Subject: RE: Challenges with versions.....

FYI - I looked at the modeling and intro sections last night just to review. I did add a comment bubble in the modeling section that we needed to add the source vs unit text from the intro section into the response. I made a couple of very minor edits to the "basis for our final rule" intro section.

Just to keep you in the loop with our challenges.....In addition to reviewing the entire notice you have compiled, we also need to compare multiple versions, the older versions with the comment bubbles (as indicated below). This is making things much more difficult and time consuming at our end.

Hi Steve,

The comment was at the bottom of page 42 of the modeling section: “Recommend revising this (as needed) once the section on the Basis for these decisions is finalized, which is the last part of the Intro section (Steve is drafting)”

I attached the version that I saved yesterday around 1 pm that still includes all comment bubbles. Carl edited this last night, so this is not the most current version.

Thanks,

Gail

Hi Gail – Was the bubble you were referring to the one that I put in as a placeholder in the source/unit visibility discussion?
